orden Johnston, Who Has Been Haned and Who Has Hazed, Declared the Prac-PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 28. There was a meeting of students to-day in Alexander Hall to discuss the subject of hazing. President Blair of the senior class called it to order. He said the reputation for hazing which Princeton had gut was retarding its prosperity, and saked for a motion upon the subject. Browne, an end rusher on the champion football team, moved that, "We, as undergraduates of Princeton University in mass meeting assembled, hereby abolish all hazing from our midst."

Capt. Trenchard spoke in favor of the resolution, declaring that hazing was detrimental to the football interests of the college in that many good men were apt to be kept from coming here on account of it.

Gordon Johnston, who was last year President of the sophomore class, and was suspended for a part of the year for hazing, spoke for the abolition of the practice to-day. He said:

We have come to a great crisis in our history as undergraduates of Princeton College. The eyes of the whole country are upon us in our action to-day. We must decide before all the world whether or not as an undergraduate body we are in favor of the practice of hazing. About a year ago Princeton was prominent be fore the eyes of the country in the matter of examinations. We considered our honor as a examinations. We considered our honor as a sufficient warrant for fairness in our examinations and refused to be watched as thieves. We shook off that incubus and crushed it. To-day there is a stain upon the name of the college we love because of hazing, and the worst of it is we who are here are responsible for that stain. I can speak from certain knowledge. I have been hazed and I have hazed. I have suffered the penalty of both. I want to say right here that I regard the practice of hazing as cowardly and mean. One man never does it alone. About fourteen will set on one little freshman. I think it is me we stamped such cowardice out. I appeal, terefore, to a loyal Princeton spirit in you to boilsh it by your votes to-day."

This speech was received with great applause, evoids of '03 urged the stamping of the practice out at one blow rather than let it die out by inches, as it was now doing, for the sophomores this year were far quieter than those of last year. The vote for the resolution was unanimous.

those of last year. The vote for the resolution was unanimous.

President Patton and Dean Murray then addressed the students, congratulating them upon their action. President Patton ascribed it to the influence of Dean Murray's speech at the opening of this college year, and said that if Dean Murray would only go on making such speeches with such results he would be glad to lengthen his vacation every year and let the Dean open the college. Dean Murray was then announced by President Patton and was greated by the students with prolonged applause. He spoke feelingly of his pride as Dean at this voluntary act of the students of Princeton.

MRS. LEWIS NOT INSANE. Sustice Osborne Orders Her Release from Flatbush Asylum,

Sarah Lewis, a widow, who was committed to the Flatbush asylum on Aug. 16, was before Justice Osborne yesterday in the City Court in Brooklyn on a writ of habeas corpus. Col. Thornton, in moving for her discharge from the institution on the ground that she was perfectly sane, said that her son, Edward C. Lewis of Boson, had her incarcerated in the asylum for the purpose of securing what little property she possed. Mrs. Lewis, he said, had for years been gaged in selling books and stationery to law-rs, and in this way had saved considerable yers, and in this way had saved considerable money.

Mrs. Lewis herself made this statement to Judge Osborne: "I shall be 67 years of age next Decoration Day. I am perfectly sane. My son has stripped me of all that I had—my gold watch. my bank book, and my furniture, leaving me only what I have on my back."

Dr. Tracy, who is attached to the asylum, said that Mrs. Lewis is somewhat unsound in her mind, but was not violent, and could be cared for elsewhere. Dr. James Terhune and Dr. W. H. Clowminzer thought that Mrs. Lewis had a clot of blood on the brain, but they found no evidence of insanity.

Lawver Backus, on the part of Mr. Lewis, denied that he had ever ill-treated his mother or taken any of her property. It was only after the physicians had declared her insane that he consented to her removal to the asylum.

Justice Osborne said that the asylum was evidently not the proper place for the woman, and he ordered her discharge.

A Telegraph Lineman's Perilons Situation

John Fleming, a telephone lineman who lives in Paterson, had a narrow escape from death yesterday morning in Newark. He was near the top of an eighty-five-foot pole at the corner of froad and Market streets when his hand came in contact with a wire which was crossed somewhere with a heavily charged light or trolley where with a heavily charged light or trolley wire. At the same time Fieming touched another wire with the back of hisl eft hand, and the pliers dropped from his hand to the pavement, while he became rigid for an instant and then sagged down upon a cross arm with his armpits over a wire.

It seemed for a moment that he must fall to the street, but he recovered quickly and struggled painfully down the pole. His strength deserted him when he reached the sidewalk, and he would have fallen but for his friends seizing him. His hands were both burned severely, and the effect of the shock and fright remained with him for an hour. After having his hands attended to he went home.

The Prison Sunday Committee of the Prison

Association of New York met in the library of terday afternoon. The Rev. Arthur Brooks. Chairman of the committee, presided. Among those present were the Rev. J. M. Buckley, D. D.; the Rev. Dr. Huntington of Grace Church, and Prof. Chariton T. Lewis. President Lewis and the Corresponding Secretary each made a statement of the special needs in the reform movement. The last Sunday in October was fixed upon as Prison Sunday. This is in accordance with custom and the date decided upon by the National Prison Association of the United States. In view of the practical abolition of labor in prisons, as contemplated in the amendment to the Constitution, the day is of unusual importance in this State. The Prison Association offers to furnish information on all prison matters, and proffers the use of its library to clergy men who desire to make special preparation for Prison Sunday. D.; the Rev. Dr. Huntington of Grace Church, both companies.

An attachment for $487 in favor of John Leffier & Co. has been obtained here against Joseph Blaha, who has kept a hotel at Islip for several years. It is granted on the allegation that he has been keeping himself conceated. I twas also stated that his wife now professes to own the place, which is mortgaged for $5,700.

A Witness with an Opera Giasa

In a suit for divorce brought by Peter Court, Frenchman of Chicago, against bis wife, Charlette, Mr. Court's sister-in-law, Amanda Court, testified yesterday before Judge Pryor in the testified yesterday before Judge Pryor in the Court of Common Pleas that on the night of Sept. I she went to the roof of the house in Twenty-seventh street, where she lived, and there, with an opera glass, saw the defendant take dinner with a young man in the house at 455 Sixth avenue and then go from that room into another with him. Judge Pryor adjourned the case until Thursday to go! the testimony of the landlord of 455 as to whether the defendant lived there with a man not her husband.

Hammerstein Wants a Receiver. Oscar Hammerstein of the corporation of Koster & Bial, the music hall proprietors, said resterday that Lawyer Hummel would appear before one of the Supreme Court judges next Monday and make an application for the ap-pointment of a receiver. He also said that some startling disclosures would be made when the application was asked for. Mr. Hammerstein declared that he was extremely anxious to sever all connection with Ecotor & High.

Forger Barts Caught Here. Richard Basis, a forger who is wanted in and Fifth avenue on Thursday night. He was arraigned in the Tombs Police Court resterday and remanded until to-morrow. Last May, under the name of James t'amp, he cashed a forget check for $1,100 upon the National Last lank of Cincinnati and fied. He is also wanted in Detroit and other cities. Davis is an $1,100 to $1.

DEAD IN THIRD AVENUE. An Unidentified Man Found at Eleventh

Street in the Early Morning. The body of a man was found soon after 4 o'clock yesterday morning lying in the shadow of the elevated railroad tracks at Third avenue and Eleventh street. It was about half way between the curbstone and the down-town track of the cable road, and was discovered by some men who nearly stumbled over it while crossing the avenue. The body was that of a man about 40 years old, with dark moustache and iron-gray hair. He was dressed in a dark cheviot suit and had the appearance of a respectable laborer. Fifty feet from where the body lav a straw hat was found badly crushed and covered with hat was found hadly crushed and covered with diri. The body was still warm. A hasty examination showed that the man's neck had been broken. On the cobblestones for a distance of a hundred feet were blood stains, and it is supposed that the man was run over by some heavy vehicle and dragged that distance.

In the pockets were found 10 cents and a prayer book with the name of Catharine Care written on the inside of the cover. The police visited the Ninth and Fourteenth street elevated railroad stations to make inquiries concerning the dead man, in the belief that he might have fallen or jumped off a passing train. The station employees declared that no man answering the description of the stranger had passed through the gates, nor had any track walker gone that way between the bours of 4 and 5 o'clock. They thought it, possible that the man had jumped or fallen from a passing train. But in such an event he would have been observed by the guard, and some report of the case would have been made.

The body was removed to the Morgue, but was not identified during the day.
